Reasons for comment:
Comments:	The Crown and Cushion has been an enduring village asset and should remain so. I first moved to the village [redacted] and it was evenings at the Crown and Cushion that helped me and my family truly integrate into the village life, meeting new friends and learning much of what our village has to offer. We are a growing village and as such this is still very much needed by what is our one remaining village pub. The well being of any community is dependent on its members feeling part of that community. There are many social circles within the village, but it is where these social circles overlap that we gain more value. The Crown and Cushion has provided that opportunity over many years. It needs to continue for the well being of the village.

Kind regards
