The ground at this site may have some contamination associated with the previous use of land, however, I don't believe land contamination can be dealt with at the demolition only stage. The site is isolated from any residential receptors so noise is unlikely to be of a great concern, and in any case, the A1 would increase the background noise, masking any demolition work sounds. The type of structures to be demolished are unlikely to create a great deal of dust. The method statement confirms an asbestos survey will be made available and specialist contractors used to remove if found.
We therefore have no objection to this proposal.
Regards,
Aaron
