Dear Mr Hillman

Reference: 24/02080/TREE
The general dimensions of the branches identified for dead-wooding across the trees range between 0.5m-7m. Dead wooding - the majority of the trees in range T40-70 have between 2 and 5 dead limbs/branches (suspected cladoptosis) which are significant in size which if left present a risk of falling onto residence and/or property. A small number of trees have shed branches already and are hung-up, presenting an immediate falling risk.
